Home Base: CHAPTER 12
The Gift

Once you finish your game,
return to home base on p. 216.

LET'S FACE IT! LET'S DO IT!

Design Your Own Game

That's it! If you've already started to play outside this book, good for you! You've begun to spread your wings. If you haven't yet taken that first step, no worries! Start now. You can only start from where you are.

Go! Play! The world is your playground, and this is your life. So, build your path and choose your own adventure. The life you want is waiting for you.

Reflect: What are you taking away from the games and your experiences throughout this book?

Go Play Outside: How do you want to continue to take what you've discovered about yourself to play more in your life?
